To whom it may concern:

I am writing this letter to whomever it may concern considering hiring a general contracting company for construction purposes. I would like to recommend without hesitation Southwest General Contractors to handle every construction need for your company or school district.

I am the former Superintendent of Canyon Independent School District and after retirement, formed a consulting company that assists schools in construction projects with school bond funds. McJack Solutions represents the schools' interest during the construction or renovation of construction projects phase as the go between person with architects, construction firm, and school district.

I had the good fortune to work with Southwest General Contractors on two tremendous projects. The two projects were the construction of Vega High School in Vega, Texas with Vega Independent School District and Pinnacle Intermediate School in Canyon, Texas with Canyon Independent School District.

With both projects I found Southwest to be very professional in all phases of construction. Their organizational process is outstanding with weekly meetings and John Durr and Mike Elders were outstanding field superintendents. These gentlemen took care of business and gave the project the attention it so rightly deserved. They both communicated effectively with all of their sub-contractors and paid attention to detail. The project manager for Southwest was outstanding, holding weekly meetings to review any issues with the project and keeping the schedule on time. The quality of work was outstanding and constantly monitored to assure the desired level of work.

Southwest General Contractors produces quality construction. This is accomplished by starting every day intentionally desiring to produce a high standard of quality. This standard is one that your community will be most proud. Southwest has my strongest recommendation.

Sincerely,

Mike Wartes
Former Superintendent, Canyon I.S.D
